In the Beginning . . . One Small Step

Life is comparable to a long walk. An individual must first take one small step in order to develop the walking process. His confidence and ability grow hand-in-hand.

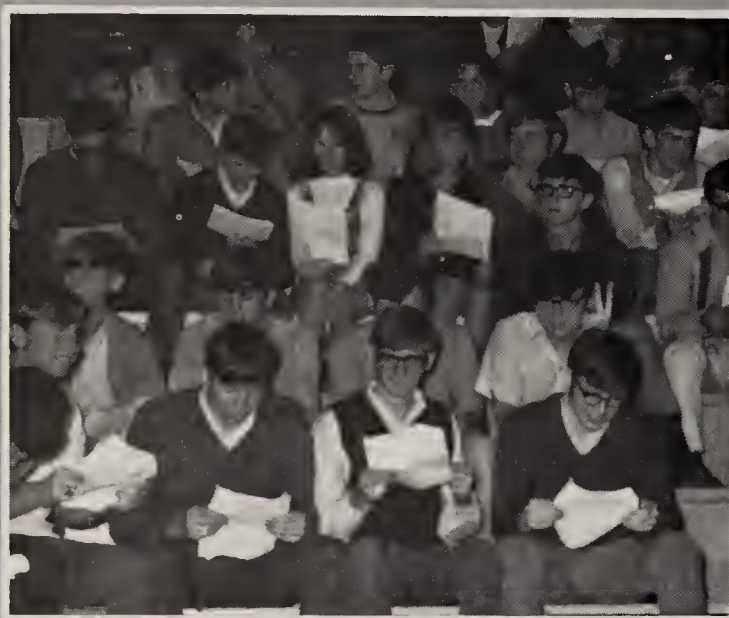

Such is life. By making use of talents and with the help of others, one can become a dependable individual. We are living in an era of wonder. Perhaps the greatest wonder of this generation was the eventful day when man landed on the moon. Neil Armstrong, the first man to set foot on the moon, expressed the words for all when he said "that's one small step for man—one giant leap for mankind." The small steps taken through education lead to major goals in life. The 1970 EPITOME staff chose "One Small Step" as its theme. We felt that this signified the value of attaining an education as well as experiences which accompany it.

Think: was it only one small step from the spaceship to the moon's surface? No, there were many steps taken toward this success. It is necessary to begin with a secondary education before a goal in life may be effectively achieved. What lies beyond graduation? Take one small step: it's a good start!

Organizations play a vital role in high school. Each individual in the organization takes a small step toward setting a goal and working until it is accomplished. It is a combination of these small steps which enables the organization to move forward in its efforts to supply the student with mature characteristics of the young adult, and at the same time, accomplish its goal.

The high school student not only takes steps to broaden his knowledge but also to strengthen his social life. These steps are taken by participating in various activities. Perhaps the most important day in the life of a student is Graduation Day for it is here he takes the last step as a high school senior and the first big step toward life as a mature, responsible, young adult.

Every individual is plagued by some degree of curiosity. Academics in school life provide some of the answers to questions which students ask. Regardless of the degree of interest, school studies can satisfy a definite part of individual curiosity. One small step taken through academics will enable the student to be more informed in the adult world of questions and problems.

Accepting defeat and winning modestly are two valuable assets of human behavior. By taking steps in sports, the athlete can learn to accept these challenges. Defeat is often more important than victory, for it stimulates the individual or team to take one step further to try for success again. The athlete takes one small step toward understanding the necessity of success and defeat. By taking small steps to develop his talents, the athlete supplies the basic foundation of a particular sport.

Each individual is responsible for taking one small step in life. School life provides the initiative to strive for such qualities. The students search for the right direction in which to take their first step. Teachers strive to point the students toward a beneficial road to maturity. Taking one small step through school experiences as teenagers will enable students to enter the adult world with a better understanding of their role in society.

In

Memoriam

Mr. Robert E. Clark took many small steps to further the development of education in the Nettle Creek School Corporation. A native of Kansas, Mr. Clark came to Hagerstown with only six years remaining until his retirement. Instead of taking life easy and merely waiting for retirement, Mr. Clark became more active than ever in education. He set a goal—that of building a new junior-senior high school. Mr. Clark wanted students in the Nettle Creek area to have every advantage and opportunity of a new school as the students in neighboring schools. In six years as superintendent here, Mr. Clark worked toward that goal. In a few months, his goal will be reached. Robert E. Clark was a fine example of how taking one small step can lead to a giant leap—in this case, for the welfare of today's youth and tomorrow's leaders. He will long be remembered and admired.

After Twelve Years of Hard Work and Labor

The Senior Class of 1970 was one of the most unique classes ever to graduate from HHS. The Seniors decided not to have the traditional Senior play. The Senior Class, though, came through for HHS. Jack Ardington became second high scorer for HHS in a season in basketball. Dave Brown became the first wrestler to win the sectional tournament. Many other senior boys made all TEC teams. Cinda Cranor received a first in the state ISMA Contest. Debbie Dennis also received a first in shorthand in the state OEA Contest.

Juniors Anxiously Await Final Year

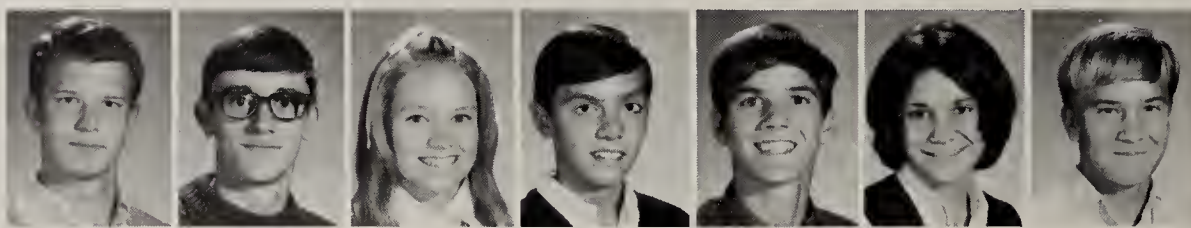

The class of "71" made its presence known at HHS by contributing in many activities. The juniors deviated from the old tradition of having the 1970 Prom at Hagerstown by holding the annual festivity at Richmond. We all are sure the Juniors will be able to accept the responsibilities that come with being a Senior.

Sophmores Continue HHS Traditions

The Class of "72" worked hard and fulfilled their duties as HHS students should. They survived the challenges of daily school life from the perils of Driver Education to the complexities of dangling particples. The class contributed in many school activities and girls possessed a lot of school spirit.

Teachers Endeavor to Create

Teachers like any other individuals spend much of their time in community activities. Still with all the time spent in school and on outside activities they must find time to be with their families. Students should be grateful for a teacher's dedication.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

1969-70

Homecoming

Homecoming is a special time of the year when the students of HHS express their true spirit as seen by a charge through the streets of Hagerstown, which was followed by an enthusiastic pep session. This year a precedent was set at Hagerstown High School by having the pep session on Cory Field.

The election of the queen and her court is a major part of the HHS.

Homecoming festivities. This year, members of the court were: Judy Bane, Becky Huffine, and Ramona Pitts.

Kathy Meier and Marcia Teegarden tied for Homecoming Queen. Half-time featured the HHS Golden Tiger Show Band performing "A Fiesta In Spain."

The Tigers were less fortunate than in previous years, as they were defeated by the Knightstown Panthers.

Casino De Monte

The 1970 Junior Senior Prom was held for the first time at the Leland Motor Inn in Richmond. Although preparations for the event were limited to making money, cards, and dice, enthusiasm was still seen in the students.

Cathy Shore, Steve Grose, Scott Conder, and Mrs. Inman work intensely on prom preparations.

RIGHT; Connie Morris and Sherri Jarrett seem quite amazed at the work Doris Woolard is turning out.

Sherri Jarrett takes her time in preparing for Prom.

Barry Locke, seeming somewhat frustrated, readys himself for the nights affairs.

After general preparations were completed, the excitement of getting ready began to mount. Girls began making hair appointments and choosing formals while boys rented tuxedos and ordered corsages. At last all was completed and stood in readiness.

Jon Barnard wonders if he has picked just the right flowers.

Joe Davis has a look of anxiety on his face as he prepares for the evening.

The 1970 Junior-Senior Prom began at seven o'clock with a banquet in the Leland Motor Inn. Roast beef, mashed potatoes, Mexican corn, salad, rolls and butter, cherry tortes, and Coke were served. The action began at eight thirty when the Casino de Monte Carlo was opened for an evening of gambling games such as Black Jack and the Roulette Wheel, while couples danced to the music of the Ray Stone Orchestra.

The Royal Couple of 1969, Steve Higinbotham and Kathy Bane, crowned this year's King and Queen Steve Grose and Suzanne Giggy. Members of the court were: Ramona Pitts, Julia Farmer, Sally Cain, Doris Woolard, Dave Necessary, Barry Locke, Barry Mosier, and Dick Satterfield.

By eleven o'clock, couples (along with most of the decorations!) made their way back to Hagerstown for the After Prom Party.

Randy Hunnicutt surveys the ball arrangement carefully before shooting.

Although Prom in itself was exciting, many were eager to change into something less formal and make the scene at the Tiger Bowl. It was a night of food, dancing, music, pool, bowling, and soulful relaxation.

Many students, undaunted by lack of sleep, continued to celebrate throughout Sunday by having breakfast together, bicycle riding, and playing basketball in the warm sun.

This was truly a Prom to remember!

Honor Day for Many

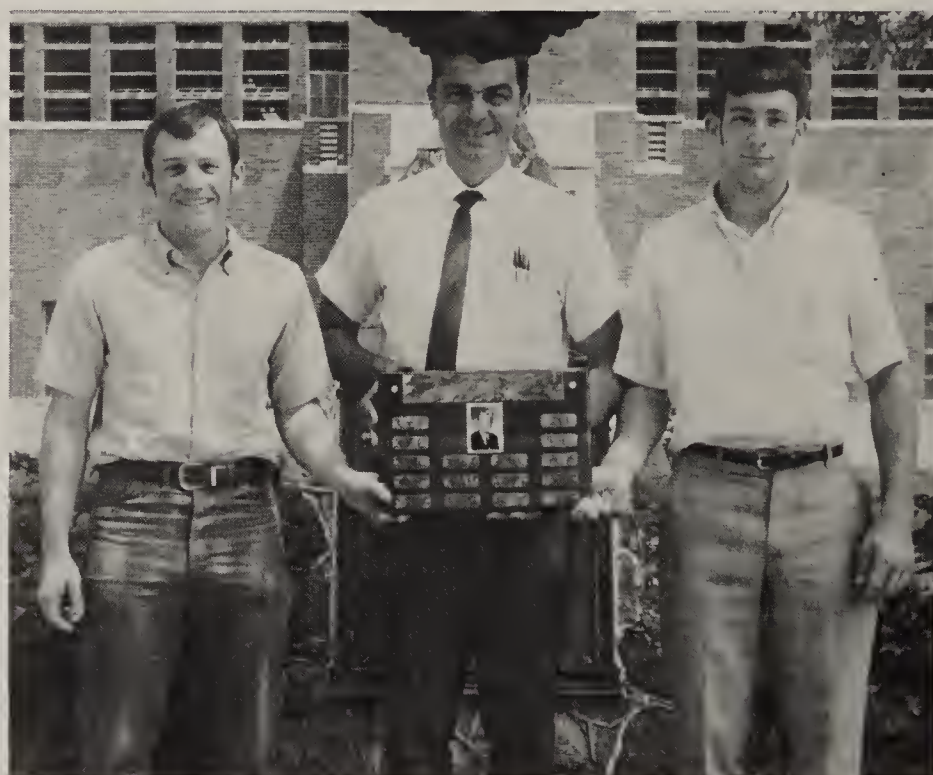

Rex Bell, 1970 Senior Class President, presents Walter Cloud, 1971 Senior Class President with the Senior Class Key.

Students were not the only ones receiving awards. Here Mr. Yeager accepts special recognition as music director from Tony Steele, Cinda Cranor, and Ellen Campbell.

Max Kerlin studies his certificate of merit for being named a National Merit Scholarship Commended Student.

Mr. Dieselberg displays the Robert Clark Scholarship Memorial plaque which will display the names of all athletes who receive this coveted award. Bill Oler, left, the first senior to receive this award looks on. Mark Sharp, also pictured, received the Eddie Hoover Sports Award.

Recipients of the American Legion Citizenship award this year are Steve Higinbotham and Linda Lester. This is a coveted award presented to an outstanding Senior boy and girl.

Representing the Psi Iota Xi Sorority, Mrs. David Oltean presents Susann Mitchell with the club's annual scholarship award.

Tony Mosier and Greg Stout receive their trophies for being numbers one and two in Phys. Ed. bowling.

Receiving the Betty Crocker Award this year is Kathy Meier.

Miss Veach presents Barbara Fagan with the Crisco Award, an award given to an outstanding Senior in Home Economics Class.

Armed Forces Day

This year, as customary, the campus of HHS was visited by representatives from four branches of the Armed Forces. The areas which were represented were the Air Force, the Marines, the Army, and the WACS. The program consisted of an individual presentation from each of the respective members of the Armed Forces. Each gave a brief description of military life, and went further to enlighten the assembly to the necessity of furthering their education for the benefit of their future success.

The class of 1970 received its class rings. Shown here are David Neccessary, Larnell Myers, and Barry Mosier.

Happenings

HHS

Bob Davis and Rick Hilbert seem to find Ted Dishner's senior pictures quite amusing.

Student Life

At left, Jon Barnard seemed to pass away his unused moments by playing his bass in a somewhat amusing fashion.

Week-end activities included this slumber party. Some who attended included Marcia Teegarden, Nancy Reed, Marta Davis, Joyce Oler, Connie Luellen, Carla Hoover, and Paula Banning.

Left, Mark Burton, Mike Debruler, Jerry Scott, and Kevin Cummins listened attentively as Ed Hobbs relived a memorable experience.

Braving the elements, two easy riders, Vickie McConnell and Jim Gordon, wind their way together down State Road 38 toward Hagerstown.

Convocations - Interesting And Entertaining

Mike Marsh, accompanied by the high school choir, vocally inspires the student body with "Rise Up Shepard and Foller" at the annual Christmas convocation.

Rev. Donald Lacy speaks to students interested in religious work on career day on March 10.

Gary Schumacker and Dan York talk before the student body about their experiences in Junior Achievement.

Mark Burton and Dave Brown present the "Senior Tiger" to coach Dieselberg at the sectional pep session.

Over the school year there were many opportunities for the student body to assemble as one.

Convocations were sponsored by the many organizations that helped make up our student body. By participating in these assemblies, the students grew in confidence as well as knowledge in various fields of interest.

"South Pacific" Cast Works Many Hours

Kathy Gamber skillfully plays the bass while Cinda Cranor, Brenda Thalls, and Jon Barnard rehearse the song, "Happy Talk."

"South Pacific" stars Ensign Nellie Forbush and Emile de Becque portrayed by Paula Banning and Mike Marsh harmonize while singing "A Cockeyed Optimist."

RIGHT: Luther Billis, alias Gary Adamson, does his thing with the help of Ellen Campbell and Marsha Hendershot in "Honey Bun".

This colorful play is set on an island in the South Pacific during the second World War. The central story concerns Ensign Nellie Forbush, a young Navy nurse, and Emile de Becque, a wealthy French planter. The two are in love, though Nellie fears obstacles to their marriage because of differences in their backgrounds. The secondary love story is that of a young Marine Lieutenant Joseph Cable and Liat, the daughter of Bloody Mary, the native woman who sells souvenirs to the men stationed on the island. Background is provided by the vivid tropical settings, Bali Ha'I and by the varied assemblage of sailors, Marines and Seabees on the island.

Patriotism Reigns At HHS

For some time now, HHS has been lacking the symbol of American unity on the campus lawn. This year, HHS was honored by the presentation of an American flag belonging to the late Charlie Brown. We are very grateful for the thoughtfulness and consideration of Mrs. Charlie Brown for donating this flag.

Along with the presentation, the school board has seen fit to present us with a flag pole. On February 25, a convocation was held and presentation ceremonies were observed by the student body. Then the entire assembly moved out to the front lawn for the raising of the American flag.

Graduation Preparations

Mr. Powers and Nancy Reed talk over the various fields which can be entered into after graduation.

Preparing for graduation was a vital part of the students senior year. It was a year of hardships and pleasures but never-the-less, when the year came to a close the seniors began feeling a little low. As graduation approached tears of sorrow were felt along with happiness but they kept going as though no one was to stop them. Finally the big day was here and the 109 seniors began their traditional walk.

Diane Mosier and Miss Veach seem to take graduation preparations quite mildly even though they know at the time feelings will be different.

Carl Dickey, Ed Hobbs, and Mike DeBruler sense the feeling of importance as graduation grows near.

Rev. George Kuebler inspires seniors, their families and friends as he gives his commencement address, "Beyond the Looking Glass."

Janine Stout tells how "One Small Step" can change so many lives.

Graduation

Through participation in student activities, the individual has learned the basis of being a responsible person. Student activities developed qualities of teamwork and leadership. Working toward better understanding between students and teachers is a vital part in striving to reach that big step.

The one small step which was taken at the beginning of the high school years led to a giant step—GRADUATION.

The Senior Class of 1970 sit in awed silence as they await the moment when they will no longer be students but alumni.

Kathy Bane seems very happy as she receives her diploma for 12 years of fine work.

Carla Hoover and Mary Jeffers seem in a daze as they begin to take their last memorable steps in the gym of HHS.

Tigers, Second in T. E. C.

Many times defeat is more important than victory, for it is defeat which stimulates the individual or team to try for success again. Although they faced gloomy predictions and forecasts, the Tiger team surprised many people by posting a five win-four loss record. After the 23-12 victory with arch-rival Cambridge City, the Tigers gained a respectable second place finish only after losing to Tri-Eastern Conference crown winner, Centerville. This year's members receiving all-conference honors were: Bill Oler, Pat Masters, Mike Smith, Fred Fuda, Gary Groves, and Dick Tinkle.

The varsity squad lacked experience this year but next year shows promise of another successful season with the return of players such as Dick Tinkle and Bob Huffine.

Tiger Coach Wilson sends in senior halfback Bill Oler with new strategy.

Tiger Captains Dusty Dearing, Mike Smith, and Pat Masters lead the team in their pre-game warmups.

Varsity Loses Six Seniors but Sets Sights on

The Tiger team charges over the bridge onto home turf for our first home game against the Yorktown Tigers.

During halftime at the Cambridge City game, Rich Allen recuperates after a tiring first half.

Junior Varsity for Future Success

This year's reserve team posted a two win-four loss record under the direction of coaches Taylor and Hurst. Although the record was a mild disappointment the losing record can be contributed to the fact that many of the sophomores who were out for football played varsity and because of this the team had many freshmen and lacked the depth needed for a winning season.

Tie for Second Place in TEC

Dusty Dearing is crowned as HHS' first Basketball King. Other candidates were Mac Marlatt, Dick Tinkle, and Dick Satterfield.

The Tiger Varsity finished the season with a disappointing 5-15 record. The record was somewhat overshadowed by the inexperience of the squad. Only three players had seen varsity action before the season opened. The purple and gold could win when it counted, as they tied for second in conference with a 3-2 record. Although they lose Jack Ardington leading rebounder and scorer, they have three fine returnees in Dick Satterfield, Dick Tinkle, and Bob Huffine which form a fine nucleus for next year's squad.

Sandy Jones displays tears of joy as she is announced the 1970 Basketball Queen. She is backed by her court, Amy Sorrell, Kathy Rodefeld and Rita Weiss.

It appears that Jack Ardington and Dick Satterfield possess some sort of strange talent or could it be that they are trying out the latest ballet steps to psych their opponents.

Tigers Have It Tough at Sectional

The game between Richmond and Hagerstown got underway as 6'7" Rich Thalls and Tiger Center Jack Ardington race for the tip off.

Tiger speedster Mark Sharp drives around Red Devil Tom Dixon.

Bob Huffine fights for a rebound position as Dick Satterfield fires over two Richmond defenders.

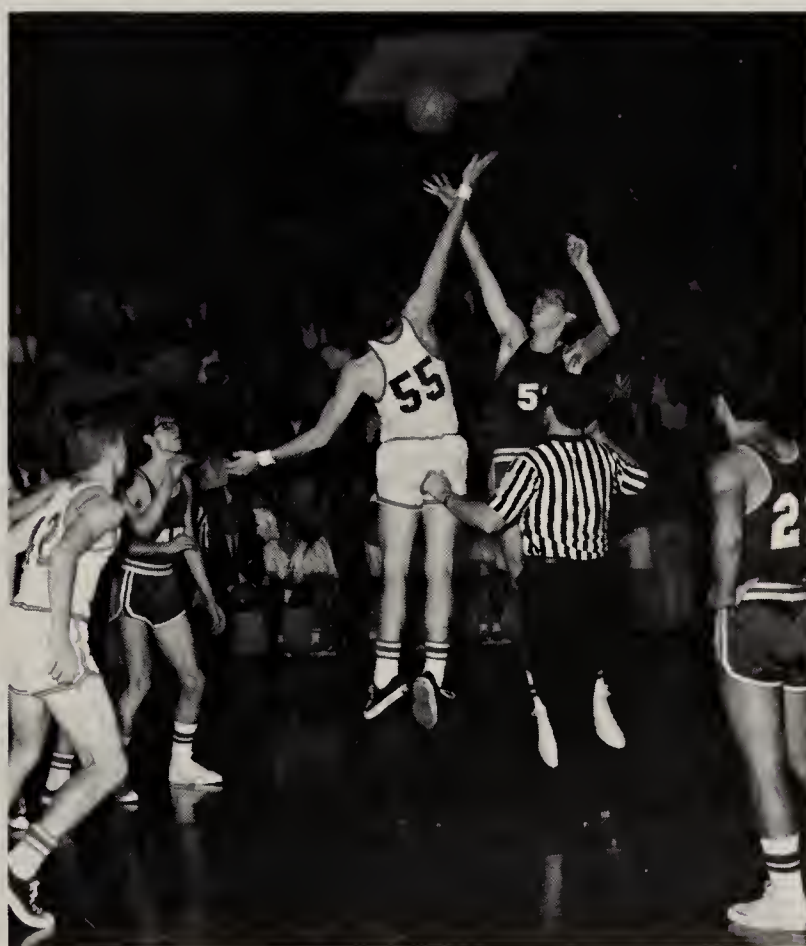

Jr. Varsity Improve Through the Year

HHS Junior Varsity squad. Phil Harvey, Steve Grose, Randy Stohler, David Beard, Kurt Reed, Mark Keith, Craig Strickler, Robin Clevenger, Ronnie Scruggs, Tom Brown.

The reserve team coached by Dave Herbert posted a 7-13 record this season. The losing record can be accounted for by the fact the two sophomores were on the varsity and many of the players had little playing experience. The leading scorer for the Kittens this year was Steve Grose, a junior, and the leading rebounder was a sophomore, Craig Strickler. These two should see a lot of action next year for the varsity.

Young Basketball Team Gains Experience

Freshman Team: Rick Hobbs, Doug Pentecost, Dave Wybiral, Tim Shaw, Kim Gray, Barry Giggy, Joel Conwell, Allen Irvin, Ron Smith, Mac Marlatt, Jeff McConnell, John Reed, David Dale, Richard Swindell.

Freshmen Cheerleaders Cheryl Oler, Sandy Ballenger, Martha Satterfield and Jackie Bicknell were seen backing the frosh team.

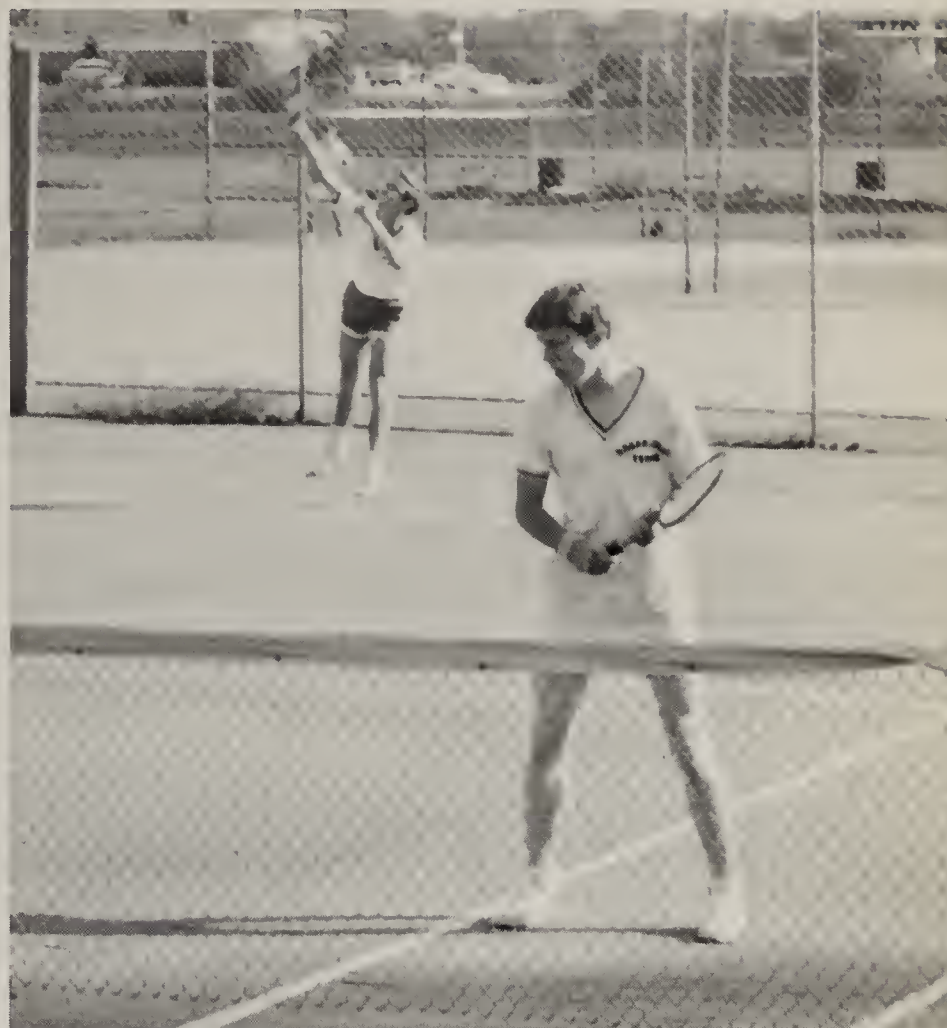

This year's freshman basketball team, coached by Dave Herbert, finished with a disappointing season. A record of two wins and nine losses verifies this. Although it was an unsuccessful season, it was a great experience for the boys. Many of the boys dressed for the junior varsity game with a few young Cubs experiencing Kitten action.

Tennis Becomes Fall Sport

Coach Douglass' tennis team compiled a favorable 2-8 season taking into consideration it was a rebuilding year. The team had two M.V.P.'s in coach Douglass' opinion; these were Dick Satterfield and Benny Hollenberg. Both boys will return next year and along with many upcoming underclassmen, tennis looks like a bright spot in future HHS sports.

Cheerleaders Reflect H H S Spirit

School spirit is an important ingredient of a good basketball team. Although neither varsity nor junior varsity came through with a winning season, the cheerleaders of both teams were seen backing them all the way. Not only did they support the team while they were leading but also while they were behind. This year Marcia Teegarden completed her third year as a varsity cheerleader. Junior Doris Woolard and Sophomore Kathy Oler completed their first year on the varsity squad. This year's junior varsity cheerleaders were: Suzanne Giggy, first year; Debbie Dearing, second year; Carolyn Stone, first year; Claudia Forrest, first year. The junior varsity and freshman cheerleaders understudy the varsity cheerleaders.

Library Provides Extra Knowledge

The school library provides students with valuable information to assist them with their studies. Each month, new paper back books were brought into the library to give the students an opportunity to buy them. Magazines were also available to students who needed them for information on current events.

H.H.S. Band Increases School Spirit

Music is the universal language extending its influence to people of every age. This year the Music Department at HHS had a variety of music ranging from the popular songs of now to the popular songs of yesterday. This year's band added much to the school spirit by replacing the lyrics of a song with spirited school chants.

Paw Print Keeps Students Informed

The "Paw Print" staff worked hard this year to meet important dead-lines. Keeping the students informed was a challenging and rewarding task. The "Paw Print" was published every two weeks. The first week was spent typing, justifying margins, then stenciling the different sections and finally handing them out. Under the guidance of Mr. Back the "Paw Print" continued to improve.

Social Activity Encouraged by Y-Teens

With an impressive induction of new members at the Church of Christ, the Y-Teens added many activities to school life. They co-sponsored the Decade Flip and sponsored a dance after the last basketball game. They also sold concessions to raise money for their many service projects. These included the Easter Convocation and the writing of letters to a Hagerstown boy in Viet Nam.

Y-Teen members also broke the tradition of having both a Mother Daughter Banquet and a Desserts for Dad by combining both into a parents night.

The Latin Club at HHS was one of the more active small organizations. In the fall, new freshmen members were sold at a slave auction to the highest bidding senator. Pep Club Livens Up Sports Events

Living up to its name the Pep Club added valuable pep and spirit to sports events. Wearing their uniforms they sat in a block at basketball and football games and also cheered the Tigers on in other sports. Again this year, the girls sold candy to raise money for various projects. As always their spirit was high, win or lose, and their presence was a valuable asset to the school and team.

Stage Crew Aids Play Production

During the school year, HHS had one of its best Egats stage crews behind the curtains. Besides doing their best to help play productions, they contributed money for the purchase of stage equipment and field trips. Egats members have worked hard to become an elite stage crew for HHS and this year they have earned this high rating.

Those Hagerstown students having an interest in science found the Science Club a valuable aid in advancing their knowledge. This was the second year for the radio class and members spent many mornings learning Morse Code and other facets of radio knowledge. This knowledge will someday be used to operate the planned radio station.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Douglass the Student Election Commission was responsible for controlling the various elections at HHS. These included elections of homecoming queen, cheerleaders, basketball queen, track queen, and class officers. Members of the SEC spent much time organizing and supervising elections and many hours after school counting election returns. Students gained valuable information on how elections are run.

Sportsmanship Is Guided By Lettermen

The Lettermans Club has just finished its second active year at HHS with a large amount of work accomplished. The club was successful in the sales of the ink pens which helped to back the Tigers. Also the Lettermans Club purchased letter sweaters for club members and intends to continue this service in future years.

In The End . . . One Giant Leap

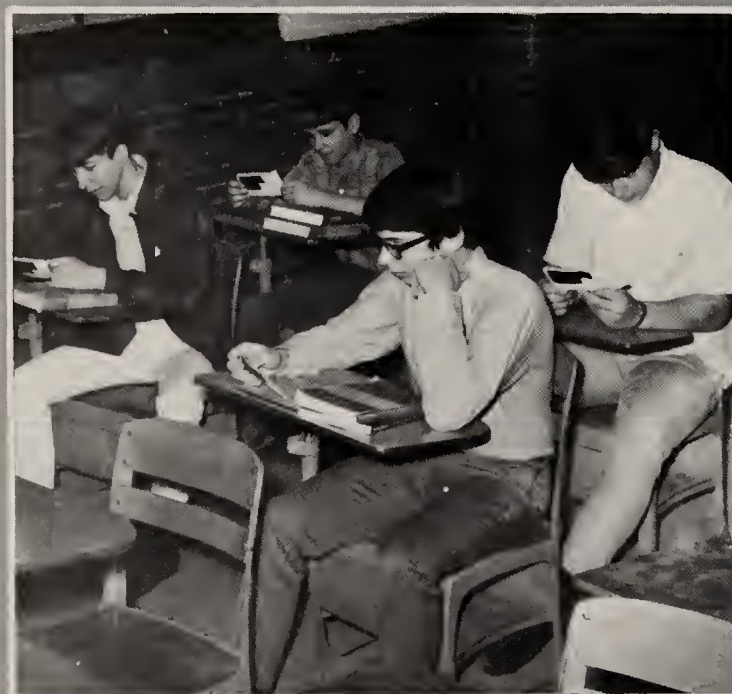

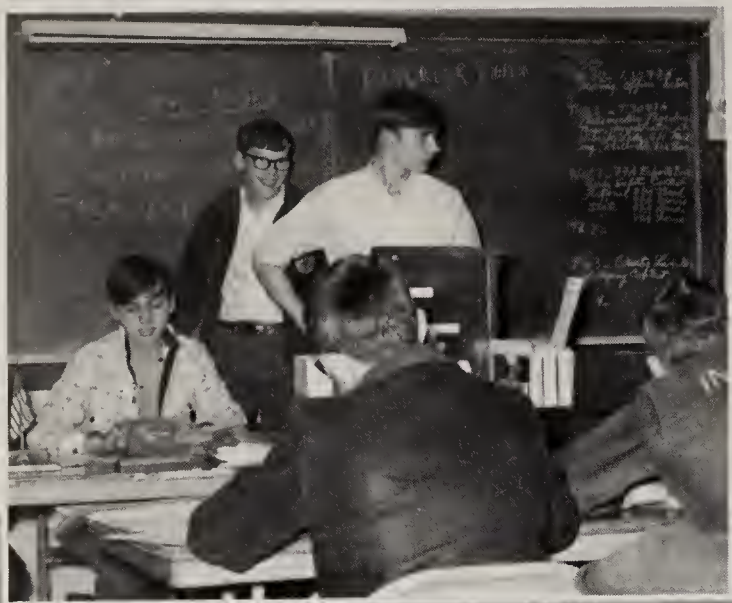

In the beginning . . . One Small Step, a step toward the development of personality and skills necessary for the adult world. In the end . . . One Giant Leap, a leap into the world of responsibility and employment. The secondary education helps to prepare the individual for various types of careers.

Education, whether in the form of teaching or other related areas is a necessary part of life. High school experiences can prepare the student to become an alert, intelligent teacher, educator, or simply a well-rounded individual.

Industry is one of the major sources of income in the United States. Through various industrial education and engineering courses, a student can become prepared for the industrial world of work.

Although its impact has lessened in recent years, agriculture is still necessary in order to supply food for today's population. Individuals who desire to enter this field can attain a good background in high school.

A giant leap toward a successful career may be achieved by taking advantage of a secondary education.

As the school year drew to a close, a step was taken by various organizations at HHS by filling out officer applications and electing officers for next year. The frustrations of keeping the minutes up-to-date, writing purchase orders, and presiding at meetings was over for another year. However, the officers and members of the clubs had many happy memories of activities and experiences shared while raising funds or performing community services.

Lunchroom conversation was a chance for students to relax from the strain of morning classwork. At the same time, it provided an opportunity to discuss many of the problems and challenges which confronted them in everyday school life. Through such discussions, students took one small step further toward understanding and respecting the beliefs and thoughts of others.

Report cards symbolized different things to each student. To some, it meant trouble with Mom and Dad. Others looked forward to seeing their name on the Honor Roll—a sense of accomplishment. To many, they merely symbolized a piece of paper to be thrown in the wastebasket. Regardless of attitudes toward report cards, the last one meant the end of another school year and the beginning of a summer vacation.

The athletic year was one of success and defeat-much like every other school. Yet, there was something different about HHS athletes. They took "one small step" that lead to a giant leap toward the support and loyalty of our great country. The HHS basketball team voluntarily had United States flags sewn on their suits and warm-up jackets-the first school in the country to do so. HHS athletes are different--they care, and the "small steps" they took toward recognizing their country is proof!

Students were overjoyed as the school year ended-but the teachers were even more relieved to have a break from the classroom. Although students were to enjoy a summer of fun, many of the teachers had to find summer employment. It is their year-round dedication and skills at preparing lesson plans that enable students to take those "small steps" toward attaining knowledge and understanding. Teachers also provide an aura of fun and excitement to classroom atmosphere.

Editor Tells Value of Small Steps in Yearbook

The very first "small step" began last May. Being asked to be the editor of the 1970 Epitome was the first step to production. The position was accepted with a feeling of mixed emotion. There is a certain degree of honor given with the editorship, but also much responsibility and leadership. One wonders if he is capable of accepting such a challenge and meeting the expectations of the reader.

Finally September rolled around and the "small steps" began moving faster and faster toward the first deadline. More deadlines neared and the book was completed.

As editor, one spends many hours planning and checking copy, layouts and picture croppings. Many times this material must be revised to fit the space which has been allowed. Only after these many "small steps" can the yearbook become an accurate history of the school year.

The staff deserves much appreciation for the many long hours of hard work that they have contributed to this year's Epitome. The cooperation among them was exceptional. Everyone worked separately, yet together when problems arose and deadline pages had to be altered. I would like to thank Kathy Bane, Tom Bruns, Paula Banning, Jack Ardington,

Mark Burton, Rich Allen, Rex Bell, Suzanne Giggy, Jana Albertson, Brenda Thalls, Jim Gordon and Vickie McConnell. A special thanks goes to Linda Lester who was invaluable to the entire staff as assistant editor. Special recognition goes to photographer, Dan Turner for his diligent service and excellent cooperation.

The 1970 Epitome was printed on enamel paper and bound with the silk-screen process cover. Times Roman type was chosen in 10 point size for all body copy and 24 point size for headlines. Times Roman Italics type was used in 8 point size for captions and underclass identifications. Times Roman IBM type in 8 point size was used in the index.

As the "small steps" are now completed, much meaning lies between the covers of this book; not only in contest but in the contributions and cooperation given by many sources. One of these contributors was the Palladium-Item Newspaper which came to the rescue of the staff by providing the picture on page 123.

The staff hopes you will find many pleasant memories as you read the 1970 Epitome.

The American Yearbook Company of Hannibal, Missouri printed the Epitome again this year. The excellent assistance and advice given by Mr.

Bill Wright, company representative, was greatly appreciated. Mr. Wright always managed to be here to help when he was needed the most.

Mr. Bill Walden of Reid's Studio at New Castle provided the Senior Portraits and photographed several organizations, shots of the Decade Flip, Prom and various sports. The studio furnished all film and processing for our photographers. Their cooperation and service was deeply appreciated.

The underclass pictures were again taken by Rem-Pack of St. Louis, Missouri under the direction of Mr. Yeager and the music department. Many thanks are extended to these persons.

The Hagerstown Exponent deserves much appreciation for providing photographs of sports activities. They also provided accurate sports schedules and pictures used in the Album.

We would like to thank Miss Olene Veach for her special services of picking up film and pictures from the studio.

Mr. Powers and the entire faculty are thanked for their complete cooperation in allowing pictures to be taken which caused many interruptions and inconveniences during the year.

The staff would like to express its appreciation to Mr. Donald Back who served as Epitome Advisor. Lastly our parents and the student body are thanked for their understanding and cooperation during the year.
